Volume XI.I, Issue 1 January 2012

Charge to the Sons of Confederate Veterans:

“To you, Sons of Confederate Veterans, we will commit the vindication of the Cause for which we fought. To your strength will be given the defense of the Confederate soldiers’ good name, the guardianship of his history, the emulation of his virtues, the perpetuation of those principles which he loved, and which you love also, and those ideals which made him glorious, and which you also cherish.”

JANUARY MEETING
 January 19, 2012, 6:30 pm
 Sweet Sue's Family Resturant
SPEAKER: 1st Lt Commander Johnnie Holley
TOPIC: "The SCV - Its Structure and Where We Are Heading"

New Start Time

From the Commander

Greetings, Compatriots!

2011 was a good year for our camp and we concluded it with a celebration of Christmas at the Woman's Building. Everyone who attended had a great time and a good traditional dinner.

Several compatriots received camp awards, as well as our OCR ladies. Those receiving awards are as follows:
 Camp Member of the Year - Jerry Shamburger; Johnny Reb Award (New Comer of the Year) - Morgan Pate; Alice Smith Douglas Award (Woman of the Year) - Norma Holley; Special Commander's Award - Lois Davidson; Commander's Appreciation Award - Outgoing Commander Cliff Johnson; Certificate of Appreciation for his many contributions to the camp - Steve Dement;

Morgan Pate, winner of the MOS&B pistol.

Brigade Commander Johnnie Holley presented the following brigade awards: Certificate of Appreciation from General Headquarters, Sons of Confederate Veterans - Reta Brand and Sue Ann Kinsey; Silver Cross - Muddy Waters; Bronze Cross - Donnie Shamburger.

The evening concluded with the swearing in of the 2012 camp officers by Brigade Commander Tom Clinkscales.

We started off the new year with some sad news. The mother of Adjutant Goodson passed away January 1. We offer our condolences as well as those of the camp to Cooper and his family. Also, just before Christmas, Len Patterson, Trans-Mississippi Army Chaplin and Athens Camp Commander, underwent surgery at Mother Frances Hospital in Tyler. He is still in serious condition and his family has asked that correspondence be in the form of email communication until further notice. Commander/Chaplin Patterson is also a good friend, and we ask that all of you remember him in your prayers.

By the time the Dispatch goes to press, we will have already had the Leadership Training here in Tyler. Hopefully, many of our camp members will have taken the opportunity to benefit from this training. Brigade Commander Holley has devoted many hours of labor and energy to the leadership programs in an effort to help all the camps in our brigade to operate better and more efficiently. Hats off to Commander Holley!

Let's not forget the Confederate Heroes' Day on the Gregg County Courthouse Plaza in Longview at 12 noon, Thursday, January 19, the same day as our camp meeting. Wear your uniforms and period attire and plan to participate in this fitting tribute to our Confederate ancestors.

We hope to see all compatriots and many friends at our January 19th meeting at Sweet Sue's, beginning at 6:30 p.m. There will be no guest speaker this month because we need to take time to share with the camp members an overview of plans for the coming months. We will be asking all members, and especially new members, for help with our plans for the coming year and beyond.

Several speakers have already been lined up for 2012. We ask for your input and suggestions for others whom you would like to hear in the coming months. Three new members will be inducted into our camp at the January meeting, and we ask everyone to be there to welcome them.

Long Live the South!

Dennis Brand
Commander

From the 1st Lt. Commander

Compatriots!

It is somewhat strange to be writing two articles again as your 1st Lt. Commander and your Brigade Commander. Wearing all these hats sometimes confuses an old man. I am very proud to again hold an office in the Capt. James P. Douglas Camp. Hopefully soon some of you will step forward to take an office within the camp. Commander Brand has a lot of great ideas for the future of the camp. He will be presenting them over the next months. With the great reservoir of talent we have available, there is no limit to what the Douglas Camp can accomplish. Please answer when the commander calls for volunteers.

This next month, you will have to put up with me as your speaker. I will talk on the SCV, its structure and where we are heading. There are many things going on that I believe you should all be aware of. Hopefully you will find it informative and enjoyable.

God Bless Our Southern Cause
Johnnie Holley
1st Lt. Commander

From the 2nd Lt. Commander

Greetings, Compatriots!

I'm grateful for this opportunity to serve the camp as 2nd Lt. Commander. I will do my best to recruit and retain for the camp to the best of my abilities. I know I can count on each of our camp members to assist me in this. I look forward to serving each of you in this new year.

God Bless Dixie!
Jerry Shamburger
2nd Lt. Commander

From the Chaplin

"Remember"

As we come to the closing days of 2011, it is just natural for us to take the time to reflect upon the year. The word "Remember" means "to re-think or to bring to mind" the things of the past. It is natural for us to ponder upon the negative and positive events of the year. Some of our experiences in 2011 were sad and difficult. Some of our experiences were joyful and happy. Life truly is a roller coaster of emotion, and the year 2011 was no exception. We call it "Life." As we come to the end of 2011, we come with faith and hope for a happy and prosperous New Year. We can truly say that the Lord has been faithful to us all and we thank Him for His keeping hand. First Chronicles 16:11 says, "Seek the Lord and His strength; seek His face evermore. Remember His marvelous works which He has done."

Scripture encourages us to remember. We are told to remember Lot's wife. Jesus calls on us to remember Him. It is good to remember what the Lord has done for us. It is also good to remember those who have paved the trail for us to follow. It keeps us focused in the present with a purpose for the future. As descendants of Southern Americans, we should remember their tremendous sacrifices. We should remember men like Lieutenant H. Carpenter who was in the 9th Louisiana, CSA. According to Lt. Carpenter, he was suffering "in little more than rags" on Johnson's Island as a prisoner of war in a facility located off Sandusky, Ohio, at Lake Erie. It was January 1, 1864. He states it was 25 degrees below zero and the cold was so intense the sentries were taken from the walls. He states also on January 1, 1864, the suffering was so intense that a number of men froze to death and many more perished from disease brought on by exposure, which also added to their condition of emaciation from lack of food.

We should remember men like Lieutenant Carpenter. We should remember January 1, 1864.

We should also remember (according to Hebrews 12:1) "that we are surrounded by a great cloud of witnesses, so let us lay aside every weight and the sin which so easily ensnares us, and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the author and the finisher of our faith."

That race is 2012. Let us run the race of 2012 with perseverance, honor, faith, and integrity. Let us continue to follow faithfully in the footsteps of our ancestors.

Southern Blessings,

Don Majors
Chaplain

Brigade News

Compatriots:

I hope each and everyone had a most Merry Christmas and most Happy New Year. I hope this will be as great a year for the East Texas Brigade as the last one. With new camps being formed and most camps showing good growth numbers, we are on the rise here in East Texas.

We did get some news which concerns me. Brother Len Patterson was operated on around Christmas. He was found to have cancer but the prognosis is good for a recovery. The commander of the John Reagan Camp, Ronnie Hatfield, had a heart attack and is recovering. Compatriot Barnhart of the Reagan Camp was also in the hospital with a pancreatic problem. Sadly, our Adjutant Cooper Goodson's mother passed away after a long illness. Compatriots, let us keep all of these friends in our thoughts and prayers and pray for their comfort and speedy recovery.

By the time this reaches you, we will have had our East Texas leadership school. We have a large group scheduled, and I expect a great program.

Compatriots, we must all hold firm to our Cause and focus on achieving it. It seems there are always forces trying to divert us or distract us from our path. Sometimes these are within our own group. I know the men of East Texas will not be swayed or distracted by those who, for their own reasons, try to weaken or divert our course.

God Bless The South!

2012 Capt James P. Douglas Camp 124 Officers

The 2012 Captain James P. Douglas Camp #124 officers were inducted at 'Christmas in Dixie.' Commander Dennis Brand, 1st Lt. Johnnie Holley, 2nd Lt. Commander Jerry Shamburger and Adjutant Cooper Goodson were sworn into office.

East Texas Leadership Training Conference

Saturday, January 7, the East Texas Leadership Conference was held in Tyler. With almost 60 in attendance, this is the largest so far. Of course the Douglas camp had the largest group in attendance. Members were present from many of the East Texas area camps and as far away as Dallas, Victoria and Louisiana.

All aspects of camp officer duties were covered. It was a learning experience for all who attended.

BLACK COLLEGE STUDENT WINS FIGHT TO DISPLAY CONFEDERATE FLAG IN DORM ROOM

A black college student has won the fight to keep a Confederate flag in his dorm room after school officials initially told him to take it down.

The University of South Carolina Beaufort told 19-year-old Byron Thomas on Thursday he could keep the flag up, after the freshman was told two weeks ago to remove it because of student complaints.

University spokeswoman Candace Brasseur told the Beaufort Gazette Thomas was initially asked to remove the flag because it violates a student code of conduct discouraging bigotry, but the school's legal counsel ultimately advised the university to allow him to display the flag.

When he was first told in November to take the flag down, Thomas posted a four-minute video on YouTube saying he views the Confederate flag as a sign of Southern pride, not of racism, and was not going to remove it. The video was re-posted on CNN's iReport, where it has been viewed more than 70,000 times.

"It's not racist for me," Thomas, a Georgia native, said in the video. "All it is is a symbol that I see as a sign of respect, and people don't want to see it that way."

Before the school relented, Thomas said he felt his First Amendment rights were being violated, and said he considered legal action if he was not allowed to display the flag.

A class project made him come to the realization that the flag's real meaning has been hijacked, he told the Associated Press in an interview. He said he wants people to carefully consider issues of race and not just have knee-jerk reactions to symbols.

"When I look at this flag, I don't see racism. I see respect, Southern pride," he told the AP. "This flag was seen as a communication symbol" during the Civil War.

Thomas said he also dislikes the term "African American" because it makes him feel like a half-citizen. "I was not born in Africa, I was born in Augusta, Georgia," he said in the video.

Thomas said he's received a huge outpouring of support since the ordeal began. "I've been getting a lot of support from people. My generation is interested in freedom of speech," Thomas said.

He said he talked to his parents — who grew up amid the Civil Rights movement — once the uproar started and said they weren't happy about his decision to display it, though that probably won't keep him from putting it up again.

"I don't want to make my parents mad," he said. "I may wait until Monday to put it up."

New Online Civil War Magazine

Gatehouse Press, publisher of Morningside Books and The Gettysburg Magazine, announces a new online Civil War magazine. The magazine features articles covering all aspects of the Civil War. In addition to articles on personalities and battle actions, the site has first person accounts, "On This Day" articles, articles on visiting Civil War sites, and a "Photo of the Day." New articles will post each Monday and Thursday. And it's all FREE. No subscription is required to access everything on the site.

Our site is for our readers. Do you have photos of Civil War sites? Submit them to us for our Photo of the Day. Have you visited a Civil War site? Send your story to our Civil War Experience page. Tell us about your visit. What should others who are going there do and see? And don't forget to include pictures of your visit.

For more than forty years Morningside Books and The Gettysburg Magazine have been bringing readers top quality material on the Civil War. Our new website continues that tradition.

Battle of Galveston Civil War Reenactment

Galveston Historical Foundation will mark the 149th anniversary of the Civil War Battle of Galveston on January 13-15, 2012. The Battle of Galveston, which took place during the early morning hours of January 1, 1863, is widely acknowledged as the most important military event in Galveston's history. Commemorative events taking place include battle re-enactments, lectures, living history encampments, a wet-plate collodion photography demonstration and a variety of special tours focusing on Galveston's part in the 1863 battle. Full details on associated events can be found online at www.galvestonhistory.org.

Battle of Galveston Reenactments

Living history encampments will be established by the 19th-Century Living History Association, Inc. and the 1st Texas Brigade. The public is invited free of charge to visit the encampments from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. The Union encampment will be located on Postoffice Street at 19th Street. The Confederate encampment will be located on Market Street and 25th Street.

A reenactment of the execution of Nicaragua Smith will be held on Saturday, January 14, at 1 p.m. and Sunday, January 15, at 12 p.m. and is free to the public. Smith, who was found guilty of desertion from his Confederate unit, was executed after being spotted by Confederate troops after on his return to Galveston. Also free to the public, a re-enactment of the battle itself will occur on Strand Street, between 20th and 23rd streets, at 2 p.m. on Saturday, January 14, and 1 p.m. Sunday, January 15.

Battle of Galveston Tours

Noted author and Civil War historian Edward T. Cotham, Jr., will be conducting various paid tours visiting the sites of the battle.

Walking tours begin at Strand Street and 20th Street on Saturday, January 14, at 3:30 pm and Sunday, January 15, at 2:30. Walking tour registrations are available in advance for $10 for GHF members and $12 for non-GHF members. Day of registrations will be available for $15 per person.

A harbor tour, scripted by Cotham, will be available January 13-15 for $12. The harbor tour departs at 4 p.m. from the Texas Seaport Museum and will allow participants to envision the battle from the view-point of Galveston's historic harbor.

In addition to the walking tour, Cotham will be offering a rare "bird's eye" tour from the 20th floor of the American National Insurance Company. Advance registration is required and costs $18 for GHF members and $20 for non-GHF members.

Cemetery historian Linda McBee will offer a Civil War cemetery tour on Saturday, January 14 and 10 a.m. and 11:15 a.m. Advance registration is $10 for GHF members, $12 for non-GHF members and free for children three and under. The cemetery tour will visit the grave of Confederate General John Bankhead Magruder as well as the monument dedicated to those who perished during the battle.

Galveston's oldest residence, the 1838 Michel B. Menard House, will be available for tours both Saturday, January 14, and Sunday, January 15, from noon – 4 p.m. Tours of the Greek Revival home, built by the founder of the city of Galveston and used as a hospital in 1862 for Confederate soldiers stricken with yellow fever, will cost $8 for GHF members and $10 for non-GHF members.

Camp Ford Marker 50th Anniversary Ceremony

Fifty years ago, at the centennial of the Civil War, the forerunner of the Texas Historical Commission approved a marker to honor the historical significance of Camp Ford, the largest Confederate Prisoner of War Camp west of the Mississippi River.

At 2:30 pm, Saturday, January 14, 2012, there will be a ceremony to commemorate this event, and to place a new plaque on the marker designating it as the first such marker in the state.

Bob Brinkman, Coordinator of the Historical Markers Program of the Texas Historical Commission, will make the presentation. Other participants will be Smith County Judge Joel Baker, Smith County Historical Society President Jerry Shamburger, SCHS Vice President for Camp Ford Randal Gilbert, TXDOT District Engineer Randy Hoppman and Blair Rudy, a descendent of a Camp Ford POW. Representatives from various heritage organizations will also be in attendance. Cadets from the Civil Air Patrol will present the colors for the ceremony.
